What is the Lindsay and Croft Approval & Slip Plan Publisher List?

This list shows the UK and Irish publishers whose books are covered on Lindsay and Croft approval and slip plans. Our aim to cover these publishers comprehensively. However we do not limit selections to this publisher list and will cover all suitable UK titles through the UK AP Plus program. We work closely with each of our customers to supply titles that fit a library's collection, mission and budget, and to integrate publisher coverage for UK material with the YBP US plan.

How do Lindsay and Croft and YBP work together?

Lindsay and Croft, located in Bicester, England, is the UK division of YBP. L&C and YBP staff are in everyday communication via e-mail and phone, and meet regularly in person. We share a bibliographic database and follow the same operational policies and procedures in our work. Due to the uniquely close relationship between L&C and YBP, academic libraries can enjoy broad coverage of UK books and truly integrated coverage of books co-published in the UK and North America.

Is GOBI available to customers of Lindsay and Croft?

All GOBI functions are available to customers of Lindsay and Croft, who can submit queries, select titles, place orders, run reports, and view their profiles online exactly as they do for their YBP-based activity. Since both L&C and YBP contribute data to our shared system, separate US and UK prices and availability are always shown in GOBI, where users can also view the links our staff creates between US and UK editions of the same title.

What about duplication control between shipments from YBP and from Lindsay and Croft?

Because YBP and L&C share a bibliographic database and use the same working systems, we are able to prevent unintentional duplication across a library's shipments from the two companies. This is possible even when the publisher, ISBN, and perhaps the title itself, are different in the UK and the US since we routinely link these "alternate editions" in our shared system. Staff at both YBP and L&C receive alerts from our system whenever a duplicate book has been ordered or a duplicate approval plan title selected. Library staff who place orders to either company in GOBI receive these same duplicate alerts, in effect across different shipment types, including firm orders, approval plans, and continuations.

What is the scope of Lindsay and Croft's Approval Plan and Slip Plan coverage?

Lindsay and Croft's staff, with extensive experience of selecting books for library collections, scrutinize publishers' catalogues, the British National Bibliography, publisher websites and other bibliographic tools to locate and treat the vast majority of titles published in the UK and Ireland of interest to academic libraries around the world. L&C coverage includes university presses, trade publishers, scientific and technical publishers, professional publishers, associations, local and regional publishers, and small presses. All subject areas are covered.

Our list features publishers whose books have been covered over the last year and with whom we routinely work to obtain information on new titles. Coverage is not limited to this list, however, since new publishers and any publisher releasing a title of academic interest, are always within scope for L&C approval plans and slip plans.

What kinds of titles are beyond the scope of Lindsay and Croft's Approval Plans and Slip Plans?

Lindsay and Croft only covers titles published in the UK and Ireland for profiling on approval and slip plans. Whilst books from any UK publisher are covered, L&C is selective in treating certain types of titles likely to be of low interest beyond the UK; such as introductory textbooks, works aimed at a vocational school readership, most popular works, and works describing British practice in applied fields such as business, teaching and nursing. In general L&C does not supply UK government publications or publications from smaller local historical societies on their approval and slip plans but--as with any title not within the scope of the plans--they are always available on firm order.

Do Lindsay and Croft profile new titles with book-in-hand?

Yes. Lindsay and Croft's bibliographers profile key UK titles with book-in-hand, under the same procedures used by YBP bibliographers. Because of this, librarians selecting from L&C notification slips enjoy accurate and reliable bibliographic description, and librarians with L&C approval plans benefit from the precision resulting from book-inhand profiling. To complement this, L&C alert librarians to many other UK titles or more specialized interest with clearly marked "Title Announcements," which are not profiled book-in-hand.

What are the options for coordinating UK and US approval coverage?

Some major UK publishers distribute new titles more or less simultaneously in both the UK and North America. Traditionally, libraries using both a UK and US approval vendor have managed this potential duplication by designating separate, nonoverlapping coverage by either publisher or place of publication. L&C and YBP support these options, and can coordinate approval coverage to reflect a given library's budgetary needs and bibliographic preferences. However, because L&C and YBP share a common bibliographic database, we are uniquely positioned to provide customers with a new option for faster service and more comprehensive coverage. Treatment of UK publishers whose titles are routinely distributed in the US can be allowed from both companies: the office which first handles a given title supplies it, and our integrated system enables us to prevent duplication of either books or notification slips.
